

NECS Partners with Green Energy Initiatives in Portland and Wethersfield on Home Energy Solutions Initiatives

February 2010 -- The green initiative programs in the towns of Portland and Wethersfield are encouraging residents to participate in the Home Energy Solutions (HES) program. They have coordinated with the Connecticut Clean Energy Fund (CEEF) to offer coupons for an additional $50 off the HES service fee through March 31, 2010 in Portland and April 30, 2010 in Wethersfield. For every resident that signs up to participate in HES, New England Conservation Services will donate an additional $25 to the green initiative program in their respective town.

"We're pleased to offer this additional incentive to residents in Portland and Wethersfield," said John Greeno, of NECS. "The green energy programs in both towns are very proactive in helping residents to understand the opportunities and benefits of going green. As an approved contractor with the CEEF, we are proud to support their efforts."

For more information, call New England Conservation Services at 877-389-7077 or visit www.neconserves.com.